WORK EXPERIENCE

Developer

fdsmx, Remote

Jun 2026 – Present

As a Developer, I was responsible for designing, coding, and testing software applications to meet client specifications. I collaborated with cross-functional teams to gather requirements and translate them into technical solutions. My role involved debugging and troubleshooting issues in existing applications, ensuring optimal performance and user experience. I also participated in code reviews and contributed to the development of best practices and coding standards. Additionally, I maintained documentation for software development processes and provided support for deployment and maintenance of applications.

Flexible Learning Inductor

fdsmx, Remote

May 2026 – Aug 2026

As a Flexible Learning Inductor, you will be responsible for designing and implementing engaging learning experiences that cater to diverse learning styles and needs. You will facilitate both in-person and online training sessions, ensuring that all participants are actively involved and able to grasp the material effectively. Your role will include assessing learners' progress, providing constructive feedback, and adapting instructional methods to enhance understanding. Additionally, you will collaborate with other educators to develop curriculum materials and resources that support flexible learning environments. You will also be tasked with evaluating the effectiveness of learning programs and making recommendations for improvements to enhance overall learner outcomes.
